The forest acreage in Slovenia is up to 58.5%, and it is the country with the highest forest acreage in European Continent. And there are over 9000 karst caves. It is the only country having Alps, Mediterranean Sea, Pannonian Plain and mysterious karst landform at the same time in Europe. The changing natural landscape will surprise you again and again. Here, you are part of nature.

Slovenia covers an area of a little more than 20,000km², with a population of only 2 million, so it is more like a bustling town in Europe. You can find busy life, many events and shopping convenience here; it is almost a miniature of Europe. It is located at the intersection of several powerful nations (Vienna in Austria is on its north; Rome, Milan and Venice in Italy is on its west; and Budapest in Hungary is on its east). Its capital Ljubljana, with a population of 260 thousand, is a perfect base for exploring Europe.
